

Celis Produce expects to open in Royal Poinciana Plaza this week

NEWS By Elliott Wenzler - Daily News Staff Writer

Celis Produce in the Royal Poinciana Plaza will open this week. Photo courtesy of Alex Celis.

Posted: 3:56 p.m. Tuesday, November 07, 2017

---

A West Palm Beach family-owned organic market and juice bar, Celis Produce is opening a store in Palm Beach's Royal Poinciana Plaza this week.

Celis Produce, seller of cold-pressed juices, smoothies, coffee, acai bowls and locally farmed organic produce, is expanding from its West Palm Beach flagship store.

Three Palm Beach County brothers opened Celis Produce on Dixie Highway just south of Belvedere in August 2015. Their father was a longtime wholesale produce distributor in the county, which inspired the brothers to make buying organic food more convenient and affordable for the people of Palm Beach County.

More Palm Beach Business News

The store also supports local businesses by selling local artisan products such as flowers, greeting cards, apparel, art and hand-crafted soaps.

The boutique-style market offers pantry items, including pasta, hot sauces, herb mixes and olive oils in addition to produce. The store also offers free home delivery of groceries with wait times ranging from same-day delivery to two-day delivery.

The new store will be in the former home of Gucci and will feature white walls, hanging greenery, pallet wood and galvanized piping for shelves.

---