

Race of Hope kicks off at 8 a.m. today

 BUY PHOTO

 HIDE CAPTION

From left, Lilly Leas Ferreira, Louisa Benton, Anna Caballero, Audrey Gruss, Scott Snyder, Ron Soderblom, Collin Santini, and Lori Cleary gather at Royal Poinciana Plaza last week to kick off Race of Hope. The Palm Beach Race of Hope 5K will be run Sunday, starting at 8 a.m. [Damon Higgins/palmbeachdailynews.com]

By Daily News Staff

Posted Jan 26, 2019 at 3:58 PM

Updated Jan 26, 2019 at 3:58 PM

The inaugural Palm Beach Race of Hope 5K will begin at 8 a.m. Sunday at Royal Poinciana Plaza.

The 3.1-mile race benefits the Hope for Depression Research Foundation, which was founded by resident Audrey Gruss.

Runners will start at the Royal Poinciana Plaza Fountain, go north on the Lake Trail, and come back to the starting point via North County Road.

No roads will be closed during the race, but police officers will be managing some intersections for the safety of drivers and runners.